NEW LOOK FOR LOT 8

Construction of a 20-story hotel—with implications for delivery of health care on an outpatient basis—began last week at the northeast corner of 34th and Convention Boulevard.

The site alongside the University Museum takes up what was formerly University Parking Lot 8, but its development also calls for a parking garage for 850 vehicles.

The hotel and garage are due for completion by the start of 1975. They are being built by E. J. Frankel Enterprises, incorporated for this purpose as Parcel 8 Associates.

The new facilities will serve outpatients of nearby hospitals; parents and other relatives of hospital patients; visitors to the University of Pennsylvania, Children's Hospital, and other area institutions; and those attracted to University Museum and Civic Center events.

The University of Pennsylvania owns the land on which the hotel will be situated. The University is leasing the land to the Associates for an initial 33-year term with proceeds to be applied to the operating deficit of the University Museum. It is estimated that the City will receive $500,000 per annum in tax and license revenues on what was tax-exempt land.

A traffic impact study by Alan M. Voorhees and Associates, Inc., determined that the project will lessen traffic congestion in the area by reducing the number of cars parked on the streets and the number of cars which circle the hospitals while waiting to pick up passengers.

The hotel will be connected by a pedestrian bridge to the University Hospital, to facilitate safe and convenient crossing of 34th Street by the ill and disabled. Its construction is expected to increase the number of patients who can undergo diagnosis and treatment without being admitted to the Hospital.

GRADUATE TUITION: UP $210

The Budget Committee has announced that, with some exceptions, the total of tuition and general fee for graduate and professional school students in 1973-74 will be $3260, an increase of $210 over the 1972-73 tuition and fee total.

The tuition and fee for students entering Wharton School graduate programs will be $3460, up $160 from 1972-73. Wharton graduate students previously admitted and continuing in their studies will continue to pay $3300 in tuition and fee. Students in the School of Dental Medicine (Continued on page 4)

OF RECORD

TOWING FEES: APRIL 2

Following is the text of the University's towing policy and fee structure, which took effect Monday, April 2, 1973.

TOWING POLICY AND FEES

The towing program instituted during the 1969-70 academic year has proven to be an effective deterrent to the parking of unauthorized vehicles and will therefore be continued. Cars parked in University facilities (including garages and lots) without the appropriate parking permit sticker are towed by a private contractor. The designated location to recover towed cars is posted at all University parking facilities. The contractor is bonded and is responsible for any damage that may occur to a car in the towing and storage process. The contractor's personnel will release, to its owner, a car that has been towed upon payment of $20.00 towing fee plus storage charge. The fee for storage is $2.00 per day. If an owner finds his or her car about to be towed away, he/she may pay the tow truck operator $5.00 (and have the car released immediately) to reimburse the operator for the time that has been expended in coming to get the violating vehicle. The contractor requires payment in cash before releasing a towed car or about-to-be-towed car. If in doubt as to location where towed vehicles may be claimed, please call the Security Office (Ext. 7297 or 7298).

The new towing and storage fees are posted at all University facilities.

TRAFFIC COURT

Persons feeling their cars were towed for unwarranted reasons may appeal for refunds through the University Traffic Court. It should be emphasized that the Traffic Court cannot authorize the release of a towed vehicle; the vehicle is only released upon payment of the assessed fees. A written complaint may then be filed with the Traffic Court at 112 College Hall. If the Court decides in the complainant's favor, then and only then will it direct that a refund be made.

WHARTON UNDERGRADUATE CURRICULUM: YES

The Wharton Faculty has approved a new curriculum based on three years' study by some 40 Wharton faculty members with input from its own students plus faculty from the College and Engineering.

Effective next fall, the new curriculum requires 36 units instead of 40 for the baccalaureate; reduces unrestricted electives and increases "non-business" electives. It also cuts from 10 to 9 the number of units that can be taken pass/no credit. In condensed form, the old and new requirements are:

PRESENT PROGRAM	Units	NEW PROGRAM	Units
Part A		Part A
Mathematics	2	Mathematics	2
Sociology	1	Behavioral Sciences	4
Pol. Sci./Soc.	2	Humanities/Science	5
Humanities	5	(1 English, 2
English	2	Science required)
Natural Sciences	2
	14		11
Part B		Part B
Business Law	1	Law I	1
Statistics	2	Quantitative Sciences	3
Economics	2	Economics and
Finance I	1	Finance	3
Accounting	2	Accounting	2
	8		9
Part C		Part C
Business Area		Business Area
Distribution (core)	4	Distribution (core)	4
	4		4
Part D		Part D
The Wharton Major	4	The Wharton Major	4
	4		4
Part E		Part E
Non-business Con-		Non-business
centration	3	Electives	4
	3		4
Part F		Part F
Electives	7	Unrestricted Electives	4
TOTAL	40		36

One thrust of the revised curriculum is to allow more students to take double major and double degree programs without heavy overloads. Some students now take 6 or 7 units, which the Committee called "far too many if Wharton expects to maintain its intellectual rigor. Study of [comparable programs] . . . suggests the general consensus that 4 truly challenging courses per term constitute a more worthwhile intellectual experience."

The new program is also designed to encourage management education for those who seek leadership careers in social institutions (health care; religious, cultural, educational and governmental institutions), and for those who have multiple career goals. It also enables Wharton students to pursue combined programs with other schools of the University and reduces the discrepancy between Wharton and College and CW requirements.
